EPISODES

Episode 1: Unlock the potential of diverse careers in Osteopathic Family Medicine by sponsoring our dynamic video episode, "Your Path to Endless Possibilities." In this engaging episode, we explore how no two DOs are alike and how their unique specialties, practice types, and innovative care models are transforming patient care and showcasing the versatility of the profession.

Join us as we feature remarkable practitioners like Dr. Rebecca Lewis, Dr. Becca Rodriguez Regner, and Dr. Anastasia Benson—leaders who are pushing boundaries, shaping their careers, and making a significant impact in their communities.

Episode 2: Become an essential part of the healthcare conversation by sponsoring our enlightening video episode, "Study Hard, DO the Medicine." In this installment, we delve into the transformative approach of Osteopathic Family Medicine, where professionals like Dr. Selena Raines, Dr. Nalini Velayudhan, and Dr. Tom Sabalaske examine the body as a holistic system to enhance overall well-being—now and in the future.

Discover how these dedicated Osteopathic doctors emphasize the connection between body, mind, and spirit, providing comprehensive care that addresses the full spectrum of patient needs. This episode showcases a philosophy that goes beyond traditional medicine, focusing on healing and transformation.

Episode 3: Unlock the future of healthcare by sponsoring our groundbreaking video episode that explores the vital theme of diversity in the osteopathic profession. Join us as we feature distinguished experts like Dr. Glennda Tiller, Dr. Gautam Desai, and Dr. Brookshield Laurent as they discuss how practitioners from diverse backgrounds are tackling health disparities and championing inclusivity within the medical field.

Episode 4: Become a key player in advancing healthcare by sponsoring our powerful video episode, "No Pain, All Gain: The Osteopathic Solution." This episode highlights how osteopathic medicine transcends traditional symptom management by addressing the whole person to effectively manage pain, obesity, and chronic diseases.

Join renowned experts such as Dr. Robert DeLuca, Dr. Robert Agnello, and Dr. Tiffany Lowe-Clayton as they share innovative techniques and compassionate care strategies that pave the way for a healthier, more hopeful future for patients.

Episode 5: Step into a vital conversation about rural healthcare by sponsoring our impactful video episode, "A Field of Their Own: Osteopathic Rural Health." In this episode, we explore how Osteopathic Family Medicine is essential for transforming healthcare in rural communities, addressing unique challenges and embracing opportunities to serve underserved populations.

Join esteemed osteopathic family physicians like Dr. Christopher Paynter, Dr. Nicole Bixler, and Dr. Joanna Dauber as they share their commitment to providing accessible, high-quality care tailored to the specific needs of rural residents. We'll shine a light on the transformative power of value-based care and how a patient-centered approach is revolutionizing primary care in these communities.

Episode 6: Join us at the forefront of healthcare innovation by sponsoring our eye-opening video episode, "The Future of Family Medicine." This episode dives into how cutting-edge technologies like AI, telemedicine, and personalized medicine are reshaping patient care and improving health outcomes.

Featuring insights from pioneering doctors such as Dr. Ian Fawks, Dr. Brittanie West, and Dr. Andrew Crow, we will explore the exciting advancements that are creating a more connected and efficient healthcare system.
